Chamber Invites Civic Leaders to Discuss Broad Program of Improvements.

POLICE BAN FIREWORKS

Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon. Va.

Considering as paramount needs for the development of Arlington County modern highway system, sewerage, zoning and city planning as outlined by the zoning commission, directors of the Arlington County Thamber of Commerce yesterday completed plans for a joint dinner meeting of tivic leaders of the county at which these projects and others will be discussed. The dinner meeting will be held Tuesday night, July 9, at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

Letters have been sent to the entire membership of the chamber of commerce asking that expressions be made as to what is considered the greatest needs for the development of Arlington County. According to P. P. Woodbridge, executive secretary, 90 replies have been received.

The directors of the chamber have for many months been considering a program for a five-year development of the county, and it is hoped that the civic leaders will give serious consideration to the subject and come prepared to discuss actual plans for the developments. Considering as paramount needs for

PARITY NOT ENOUGH.

The substantially equal strength of the British and American navies is recognized as an objective which, if reached and maintained, will have a tendency to remove distrust and eliminate competitive building. This objective was sought at the Washington conference, but while it was accepted in principle, it was not attained. The disparity between the fleets has become greater since 1922. The British navy is much stronger than the United States Navy.

All efforts to find a "yardstick" are, of course, intended to bring about the equality of the world's greatest fleets; not equality in number or tonnage of ships, but substantial equality in fighting strength as a whole. The difficulties in the way of finding and agreeing upon a yardstick are both physical and political, but the material difficulties alone are such as will eventually discourage those who pin their hopes of peace upon parity. The chances that the naval experts of Britain and the United States will agree upon a formula for measuring naval strength are extremely small, and yet if parity is to be the basis of peace they must agree before the political experts can shape a treaty.

But even if it be assumed that a formula can be agreed upon, and a parity treaty made, the agreement would not meet the situation created by the Kellogg treaty. The two nations have mutually agreed to renounce war as between them, and to seek pacific means of settling any disputes that may arise. The only conceivable disputes that would threaten war are those arising from aggressions upon the seas. Twice, at least, those disputes have embittered Anglo-American relations. In one instance, the United States had no naval power, and the ensuing war was marked by the burning of the Capitol at Washington. In the other instance, the British government invented and applied novel rules law, whereby neutral American vessels and cargoes were seized and converted to British necessities, despite the vigorous protests of the United States. But for the underlying sympathy which Americans held for the allies in their defense against Germany's assault it is quite possible that the Anglo-American dispute would have passed the stage of pacific

History reveals that Britain is likely to be involved in war and that the United States is likely to be a neutral, friendly with all belligerents and trying to carry on innocent commerce with all of them. In such a situation it is highly probable that the British government would rely upon the precedent of 1914-16 to encourage it in seizing American commerce, in the confident expectation that the resulting disputes would be settled amicably by prize courts. If this situation should develop it would not matter whether the two fleets were of equal strength or not. One would be a belligerent, desperately using every device to win the war, and justifying aggressions on the ground of necessity, as was done by both England and Germany in the late war. The United States would be a neutral, but its sympathies might not be on the British side of the war, and violation of its free rights upon the seas might provoke war.

The absolute right of neutral ships to carry on commerce during war, subject to belligerent rights of search and effective blockade of designated enemy territory, must be acknowledged and formally agreed upon if there is to be a solid foundation of peace between the two great nations. If neither can now undertake, before it is a belligerent, to leave the other's neutral commerce unmolested. it need not be expected to refrain from aggressions when war comes. They have agreed to renounce war. Now let them agree to renounce the practices that make for war. Then they will not need to measure their fleets with a yardstick, prepared to enter into endless quarrels whenever one or the other builds a cruiser.

BORDER PATROL PROBLEMS.

When President Hoover asked Congress to investigate how the bureaus and agencies concerned with the enforcement of prohibition could best be reorganized, his message contained a suggestion for the "unification and strengthening of our border patrols, both in connection with prohibition and the illegal entry of allens." It now appears certain that the President has in mind the creation of a single border patrol to police the Canadian and Mexican boundary lines. Representative Hudson, of Michigan, has announced the preparation of a bill which will carry out the President's wishes.

Border patrols are now maintained under three different executive departments. The Department of Agriculture has 90 agents to enforce quarantine regulations against harmful insects, plant and animal diseases. The Customs Bureau of the Treasury employs a force of 712 men to prevent smuggling, and the Prohibition Bureau has more than 800 The Department of Labor keeps a force of 870 men on the borders to prevent the illegal entry of allens. The Hudson bill would bring all these 2,472 agents under the same authority "in order to more effectively enforce the laws of the United States." Mr Hudson contends that this arrangement would eliminate confusion and put a seasoned and equipped group of police on the borders, and he thinks it would improve the morale of the entire force.

Another argument cited in favor of the unified border patrol is that it would eliminate duplication. But it is difficult to see how this would be possible, in view of the fact that there can be no duplication under the law. Mr. Hudson himself points out that if an agent of one department undertakes to enforce the law of another, he may be liable for false arrest. It appears that the measure really would bring confusion and inefficiency. The agricultural expert would be called upon to leave his pursuit of destructive insects in order to catch rum-runners. Men who are trained to prevent smuggling of goods or liquor would hardly be competent to operate against boll weevils or cabbage worms. Can it be that the Government is hopeful of securing men for its border patrol who are equally skilled in the prevention of smuggling, the detection of plant enemies and 'the exclusion of aliens?

What department would be given authority over the unified patrol? At present each department administers its own regulations in accordance with definite policy. Who would shape the policy of the conglomerate patrol which would have to deal with agricultural, revenue and immigration laws?

If the move for unification of the border patrols is designed to subordinate these laws to the enforcement of the prohibition law, it will not meet with the approval of the people. A reduction in the flow of liquor from Canada would not compensate the country for lax enforcement of the quarantine, revenue and immigration laws.

SMALLER MONEY AND CHECKS.

The Government will issue its new currency next Wednesday. A total of $3,640,000,-000, enough to give every person in the United States $30, will be put in circulation. Only a small portion of the people has become familiar with the new money, and there is naturally much interest in its release. This is the first time the size of the currency has been reduced since the Civil War.

The Government is chiefly interested in the new currency from the standpoints of economy and prevention of counterfeiting. The public is interested from the standpoint of convenience. The new bills will be 10 per cent smaller in dimensions than those now used. This is their chief appeal to popularity. It is possible, however, that there will be some disappointment in this respect after the new currency has been distributed.

The convenience of smaller-sized bills will be negligible unless the size of wallets is correspondingly reduced. But if wallets are made smaller to fit the currency, they will be too small for other paper money and negotiable instruments. If checks, bank drafts, &c., must be folded twice to fit a wallet, the inconvenience may be greater than if the present size of the currency had been maintained. The improvement will be enhanced if banks will reduce the size of their checks to correspond to the new currency. It is estimated that the Government will save $522,520 in paper, $120,000 in its ink bill, and $1,000,000 n the cost of labor as a result of the smaller currency. This suggests that a considerable saving might be made by private financial institutions. Many checks are at present unnecessarily large. Why should not all paper money, checks as well as currency, be made a

REGULATING BIG BUSINESS.

The rapidity with which American business. industrial and financial concerns are being consolidated into huge corporations is causing alarm both in and out of Congress. The coun try is entering upon an era of mergers. Bank mergers are being negotiated at a rate which has put Congress in an investigating mood. Last week a $500,000,000 consolidation of food companies was announced. The "power trust," the "radio trust" and other trusts are subjects of never-ending controversy, and even the aviation industry is trying to get out of its swaddling clothes by organization of extensive holding companies. The attitude of the country toward "big business" has undergone a revolution in the last decade, but the Government still holds to the antitrust laws. Once the consolidation of railroads was illegal; now the Government is making every effort to merge the railroads into great unified systems. The American industrial system is founded upon the principle of large-scale operations. The Government is friendly toward business and maintains a De partment of Commerce to foster its growth. With the continuous development of gigantic corporations, what is going to be the attitude of the Government toward them?

BE CAREFUL! The present method of controlling trusts is by investigation after the organization has been set up. This work is entrusted to either the Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission or congressional committees. Such procedure is negative and often subjects comnercial interests to inconvenience and financial loss. It is therefore interesting to find Col. William J. Donovan, former Assistant Attorney General, advocating creation of a Federal agency which would pass on the legality of proposed mergers before they were

Col. Donovan would give such an agency jurisdiction over all interstate trade and commerce, except public utilities. Business groups wishing to combine would lay their plans before this industrial board, just as railroad companies submit their merger plans to the Interstate Commerce Commission. While Col. Donovan was in charge of antitrust prosecutions for the Department of Justice he adopted the practice of giving advice to con-cerns desiring to consolidate. The proposed industrial board, or court, would have that function. If the court decided that the proposed consolidation did not violate the antitrust laws, any acts done in accordance with the approved plan would be deemed lawful. The plan would no doubt promote cooperation between the Government and big business concerns. If conformity with the antitrust laws could be secured in this way, it would be a decided advance over the present method of hectic investigations.

OLD GLORY.

We who see you every day Seldom turn from work or play To admire or think of you. Glorious old red, white and blue! On about our tasks we go, Passing you as one we know, One who keeps the common grace Of a long familiar face, But the friends who travel far Know how beautiful you are,

We who find you in the skies Everywhere we turn our eyes Hold you an accepted fact, Brief the glance which you attract. Glorious banner of the free, We who stay at home with thee Feel no swelling at the throat As upon the breeze you float, But the ones who travel far Know how beautiful you are.

Those who venture out to roam Wandering away from home Grow to search the skies of blue Hoping for a glimpse of you. Content with ordinary evening dress, Mr. Dawes has settled for himself a question about which generations of diplomats and Secretaries of State have not spared ink nor congressmen yawp. Our earlier ministers seem to have had less trouble about the minutiae of court dress, though some of them, like John Adams, objected to the expense. In the matter of Dr. Franklin's simplicities of court garb, engaging myth has perhaps magnified the facts a little. Parton shows him in the presence of Louis XVI in 1778 "in a suit of plain black velvet, with the usual snowy ruffles at wrist and bosom, white silk stockings and silver buckles." He had waived chapeau and sword, but he was fairly decorated. If he was wigless, that was because his wigmaker had underestimated the size of the philosopher's

The late Mr. John W. Foster's "The Practice of Diplomacy" picks from an ocean of material some curious wreckage of diplomaticsartorial splendors and eccentricities. Behold John Quincy Adams, James A. Bayard, Henry Clay, Jonathan Russell, Albert Gallatin, our representatives at the conference which resulted in the Treaty of Ghent, thus accoutred:

A blue coat, lined with silk, straight standing cape, embroidered with gold single-breasted, straight or round button holes slightly embroidered. Buttons with the artillerist's eagle stamped upon them, i. e., an eagle fiying, with a wreath in its mouth, grasping the lightning in one of its talons. Cuffs embroidered in the manner of the cape; white cassimere breeches, gold knee-buckles; white silk stockings; and gold or silver shoe buckles. A three-cornered chapeau de bras, not so large as those used by the French nor so small as those of the English. A black cockade with an eagle attached. Sword, &c., cor-

This modest pageantry was permitted until Pierce's time. In 1853 Secretary of State Marcy emitted a circular which set all the court flies buzzing. The eagles at Washington screamed. Foreign newspapers were amused The doubtful case of Dr. Franklin was cited. The simplicity of our usages and the tone of feeling among our people" were appealed to as justification. It doesn't appear that the people were excited and the circular reads like a stump speech. The Department of State desired to return to "the simple and unostentatious course"—which did not prevail "in the earliest days of the Republic." All tailoring instructions were withdrawn. Henceforth each representative was free to regulate his court costume "according to his own sense of propriety, and with due respect to the views of his Government."

He did not trust it to the box office to "count up." He looked after his own interests and helped out. One night while he was at his task in a late spring engagement the weather turned very warm. He had been wearing a high stiff collar at the time, which, due to the heat and a skin affection on the back of his neck, kept him ntinually scratching. After the "count up" he complained of the collar and said he was going to write to his shirt maker in New York to make him a sof

Meanwhile Ziegfeld had become a celebrity in the theatrical world, and when he strolled along that famous thereuselves he was the consume of thoroughfare he was the cyno all eyes, much like the Prince of Wales, who sets the styles for the young bloods of Britain. It was noticed that he wore a soft collar—something unheard of in those days—but the reason for it was never divined. It was for no other reason than to hide and at the same time soothe an unseemly pimple on his neck. Soon the follow shirtmakers did not overlook the op-portunity to put the soft collar on the market in opposition to the traditionally stiff one, until now it is algentry. Cabinet Group Scatters For Fourth of July

Holiday Makers Will Remain Away Over Week-End.

By JEAN ELIOT.

HE President and Mrs. Hoover seem to have given up the a of going to their fishing camp on the Rapidan for the Fourth o July and propose to remain at the White House over the holiday. The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, is also staying in town and so, apparently, are the Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown, who are not of record as having any definite plans for the day. But the Cabinet group wil be pretty well scattered today and most of its members will remain out of town over the week-end.

Vice President Curtis, usually grouped with the Cabinet for socia purposes, has taken advantage of the Senate recess to make a visit to his home in Topeka, Kans., and later will go to Providence, R. I. to stay with his daughter, Mrs. Webster Knight. His sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, plans to visit Topeka and Providence, bu not until later in the summer.

not until later in the summer.

The Secretary of State, Mr. Henry L. Stimson, left yesterday for Long Island accompanied by Mrs. Stimson, who had been in town for a few days looking over Woodley, the picturesque estate, which is to be her home in future. The Secretary will be eway until Monday. Attorney General Mitchell and the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Robert Patterson Lamont, both of whom are summer bachelors, have slipped off together for a brief visit "somewhere in New York" and one wonders if they are not, possibly, to be guests of Secretary and Mrs. Stimson. The three men have become quite chummy. Mrs. Mitchell is at Great Bear Lake, Minn., for the summer and Mrs. Lamont at her, home in Lake Forest, Ill.

The Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Arthur M. Hyde, and the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, are both scheduled to make Fourth of July addresses. Secrtary Adams will spend the day in Frederick, Md., and will take part in the unveiling of a memorial in the courthouse square to Thomas Johnson, first Governor of Maryland, from whom Mr. Adams is collaterally descended. Rose Hill Manor, the old home of Gov. Johnson, is one of the show places in the neighborhood of Frederick, and has of late been used as a tea house. It boasts, still in a good state of preservation, the first bathtub ever installed in Maryland.

Secretary Hyde is in Atlanta, where he is to make a speech, and will go thence to Jackson, Mich., to take part in a Republican anniversary celebration, at which Dr. Rubert Work, chairman of the Republican national, committee, is also to make an address. Mrs. Hyde is at her home in Missouri to remain through the summer. Mrs. Adams is at present in Massachusetts, but is expected to rejoin Secretary Adams in Washington next week.

'The Secretary of War and Mrs. Good have gone to Manchester, Mass., where Mr. Good is to remain until the first of next week and Mrs. Good through July. The Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Wilbur are in the West, the one on an inspection trip and the other at their summer home in the Sierra Nevada. The Secretary of Labor and Mrs. Davis are at their cottage at Ventnor. The Secretary plans to take a fortnight's holiday, and Mrs. Davis and the children will remain until autumn.

Deborah by this time felt safe in the company of the soldiers. They teased her about her inability to raise a mustache and nicknamed her "Molly" and the "Blooming Boy." But it was another thing with a surgeon.

Deb wasn't ready to give up. On the way to the hospital she complained of a few scratches on her head and said not a word of the bullet in her thigh. The Scalp wound, as was customary in those days, was washed in rum to cleanse it. A few stitches and a bandage and the surgeon passed on the next soldier.

That night Deborah slipped from her cot and went to the closet where she had seen one of the attendants put away the surgeon's instruments. From this supply she chose a silver probe, some lint, salve and a bandage. Back in her cot she got down under the covers and began to probe for the bullet. To make a long story short, the bullet came out, Deborah applied the salve, lint and bandages and though in much pain, managed to fall asleep.

The next day Deborah had a close call. Her breeches had gine to the wash. When they were returned to her the surgeon happened to be standing by. He picked them up, looked at the rent made by the bullet on its way in and asked how the tear got there.

"It was occasioned," replied Deb, "on horseback by a nail in the saddle or head to foot in a lady's attire within head to foot in a lady's attire within head to foot in a lady's attire within head to foot on a laster propegation.

Thus did Deborah Sampson, of Middleborough, Mass, describe her jite in the Fourth Massachusetts P — at in a company of light infantry that was fighting the British shortly after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Her account was intentionally vague. For Deborah did not want her family to know where she was or what she was doing. A few months before writing this letter, Deborah had run away from home, donned breeches, coat and waistoost made by herself, and had enlisted in the Continental Army as Robert Shurtiliffe. Not until the war was over did her fellow officers learn of her sex; not until peace did they bestow on her the title of "Our Gallantress," and "the Dauntless Fair."
Deborah had no trouble in being accepted at the recruiting station. Her unit was sent down to West Point, from where she made several scouting expeditions into northern New York during the first six months. She was one of several volunteers who made sallies across the Hudson to annoy the home.

. S.-CUBA TREATY ON SUGAR ATTACKED

Smoot's Proposal for Sliding Tariff Scale Would End Preference.

BEET GROWERS FAVORED

By CARLISLE BARGERON

The senator made known yesterday that he would not consider the sliding scale unless it be conditioned upon the abrogation of the treaty, but that after a study he had come to the definite conclusion that Congress could repeal it by setting up a plan to take its place.

He talked the matter over with President Hoover, but said afterward that Mr. Hoover had not committed himself.

The senator's sliding scale would range from a minimum of 1 cent a pound to 2.40 cents, the rate against Cuba in the pending House bill. The tariff would go up as prices went down and vice versa. The levy against Cuba at present, with the 20 per cent preferential treatment under the treaty of 1903, is 1.76 cents.

Various Supreme Court decisions, the senator said, "made it clear that as a general rule treatles and acts of Congress stand on a parity as laws."
"A treaty becoming a law," he said, "may supersede a prior act of Congress and an act of Congress may supersede a prior treaty."

a prior treaty."

There is no doubt, he said, that "Congress, by statute amending the tariff laws, may abrogate as a law the provisions of the convention with Cuba and the act of Congress which carried it into effect, and the rates of duty be collected on merchandise coming to the United States would be those xed by the last act of Congress on

"Since the rule is that Congress will not be assumed to have intended to abrogate an agreement with a foreign nation," he continued, "an act of Con-gress would not be construed to have that effect unless its provisions are entirely clear."

Elimination of the treaty with Cuba is a decidedly new wrinkle to the much talked of sliding scale, at least in so far as public knowledge of it is concerned, and it puts the plan in an entirely different light. It is doubtful if it will be accepted by those who have been making a fight for the protection of Cuban interests as against those who are determined to give the domestic beet sugar industry protection against them.

Ambassador Ferrara, of Cuba, in a Ambassador Ferrara, of Cuba, in a statement, said the Smoot proposal could be a "good solution or a bad one in the economic relations between the United States and Cuba." If the scale were applied in a moderate way, he said, it would be beneficial to both countries, but if it contemplated a heavy tariff based on present prices or those probable for the future and a low levy on prices which spever will exist." it would work against "the interests of Cuba, and, in consequence, of American consumers."

President Noncommittal.

The President has been represented as favoring a sliding scale, one that would protect both the "producer and the consumer." He has not however, committed himself to any definite plan. It remains to be seen how he will view the proposal to do away with the preferential treatment which Cuba now receives.

ential treatment which Cuba now receives.

Any plan that the Utah senator proposes will be approached warily by the Cuban interests, because he is not looked upon as their friend. The Utah senator is avowedly out for a sugar tariff that will benefit the beet sugar producers. The word a few days ago that he was working on a sliding scale plan was interpreted in some quarters to mean that he had yielded to the President's desire for a more moderate treatment of the subject. It will require further study of the treaty proposition to determine whether this is the case.

No practical sliding scale can be set up unless the treaty is abolished, the senator contends.

Bill May Not Be Ready.

Incidentally, the senator is doubtful now that the finance committee will have the tariff bill ready for the Senate when it reconvenes August 19. The likelihood is that the Senate will have to kill considerable time by a series of three-day recesses until the committee concludes its work.

The hearings will not begin on the Change Would Endanger Pedestrians.

"It should be borne in mind that at many of our intersections the volume of traffic consists of 20 to 30 cars in each direction per minute. To permit cars to drive to the center and make a left turn against this volume of traffic would, in my opinion, cause congestion and would be dangerous and impractical. It would defeat the very purpose for which traffic lights are installed because it would permit the left-turn movement against a red light on the intersecting street, thus endangering pedestrians who may be crossing on proper signal.

"If the complete left turn is permitted on the green light, there would be no time when the pedestrian could cross the street safely.

"We have a regulation which provides that no vehicle shall pass another on the right. If we return to the old method of making the left turn, the vehicle on the right and those approaching an intersection to make a left turn would have to stop, or the regulations would have to be amended so as to permit vehicles to pass on the right.

"Our regulations provide that a vehicle making a turn shall give the right.

as to permit vehicles to pass on the right.

"Our regulations provide that a vehicle making a turn shall give the right of way to through traffic. Under our present plan through traffic is given the right of way, but under the center left-turn plan, through traffic is delayed and endangered. It is realized that our rotary left turn may be confusing at first to some out-of-town motorists, but are we to sacrifice safety for the benefit of visiting motorists? Traffic officers tell me they have very little trouble with strangers, who soon catch on to our method. They also tell me that at such intersections as Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue there has been a considerable reduction in accidents caused by left turns since the new method was adopted, on June 1, 1928."

Given Fatality Figures.

As for the efficacy of the present system in minimizing fatal accidents, Harland exhibited figures compiled by Eldridge showing that during 1929 only one fatal accident of 49 within the District occurred at an intersection controlled by traffic lights. At intersections not controlled by lights there were eight fatalities, while at intersections controlled by traffic officers there was but one fatal accident during the current year. Five fatal accidents occurred at points other than intersections on streets with light control, while at points other than intersections on streets not controlled by lights there were 34.

Total arrests for traffic violations during the calendar month of June, 1929, were 5,434, a decrease from 6,969 from May, according to the monthly report of police activities compiled by Lieut L. I. H. Edwards. Of these, the largest single entry, 776 arrests, covered violation of speed regulations. For colliding and failing to stop, 41 were arrested; dazzling lights brought 9 afoul the law; for operating motor vehicles while drunk 19 were held, and reckless driving was charged to 164 autoists. Increases were shown over May both in speeding and reckless driving, the respective figures for the previous month being 686 and 146. Fifty-four motor vehicles were confiscated by police during the month of June under various charges.

Deaths from traffic accidents during June totaled 9, being a decrease from 11 in May. Injuries likewise decreased from 284 in May to 276 in June, while the total number of accidents last month was 519, as compared to 544 in May.

Problem Has Wide Effect.

"The nation's traffic problem has come to a point where it shadows the daily lives of all our people, and the time to meet and solve the problem is now," Eldridge said yesterday. As chairman of the committee on traffic chairman of the committee on traffic of the American Road Builders Asso-ciation, Eldridge has named subcom-mittees to study every phase of the traffic problem, and their findings will be presented at the association's conbe presented at the association's convention and road show at Atlantic City next January.

Among the points being studied particularly are questions of regional plan-ning, including zoning for various classes of traffic and designation of through streets and one-way streets, analysis of accident statistics, study of traffic-flow maps, parking, traffic sig-nals and signs and street lighting, traffic law enforcement and drvers' licenses
As result of a protest by the Mer following a conference yesterday, amendment of the traffic regulations to permit parking abreast by delivery trucks for loading and unloading was recommended to the District Commissioners by William H. Harland, director of traf-of william h. harismid, director of trained.

This followed a similar recommendation made by Inspector E. W. Brown, of the traffic section of the Police Department, in which Maj. Henry G. Pratt. superintendent of police, concurred.

In its protest the association complained that existing regulations forbidding double parking of delivery cars unless attended by a licensed operator work a hardship on business establishments in necessitating employment of additional and unproductive men. The organization urged that the regulation requiring an extra licensed driver be eliminated and that commercial vehicles be permitted to park long enough icles be permitted to park long enough or loading and unloading.

Public May Have to Pay.

Public May Have to Pay.

"The present requirement," said Gen Anton Stephan, president of the association, "is absolutely prohibitive from an economic standpoint to most owners of commercial vehicles, and if enforced will either necessitate such vehicle own to base this additional expense on to the public, thus causing an unnecessary increase in the cost of living."

Gen. Stephan submitted a substitute paragraph for the existing regulation, and this was approved by Maj. Pratt, st. Mr. Harland and Inspector Brown, after a clause had been added permitting double parking only where it would not unreasonably impede or interfere with traffic. Double parking would be permitted only where parking space along the curb is not available, and only for the period absolutely necessary for loading or unloading.

After the conference, which was attended by Gen. Stephan, Edward D. Shaw, secretary of the association; Ford Young, of the ice cream division: Charles H. Frame, of the traffic section; and Louis Levay, laundry section, and Commissioner Dougherty promised that final action would be taken on the request by the commission within the next few days.

She Had No Permit.

For playing the "Good Samaritan" role, pretty Miss Evelyn Etta Padgett, 22-year-old blonde, of Del Ray, Va... spent a night in the House of Detention and was brought before Judge Gus A. Schuldt yesterday at Traffic Court on charges of driving an automobile without a permit and failing to have emergency-control of the vehicle. The young woman was arrested at First and B streets northeast by Policeman R. A. Cunningham, of the Traffic Bureau, on Tuesday night. He said Miss Padgett, two other young women and two men were crowded in a single-seat sport roadster that the defendant was driving. At the Sixth Precinct, the pretty prisoner admitted she had no driving license and was sent to the House of Detention.

Miss Padgett explained that she and her companions had driven back from Baltimore. Her friends, she said, became ill and she volunteered to drive them home. When the policeman accosted them, she said, the two young women and a naval petty officer deserted the party and went home in a taxicab. Budge Schuldt decided Miss Padgett's ill fortune was sufficient penalty and referred the case to probation authorities.

Than in May.

Than in May.

A decrease of more than 15 per cent was shown in the number of persons arrested in the District during June as compared with the number of arrests in May, according to figures made public yesterday by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police.

The figures, compiled from police records by Lieut. L. H. Edwards, of police headquarters, showed there were 9.074 persons arrested in June, which was a drop of 1,632 from the 10,706 arrested in May. The number of charges preferred dropped from 12,049 in May to 10.464 in June.

Persons arrested for felonies numbered 196 in June, as compared with 293 in May. There were 226 arrested for violations of the Volstead law, as compared with 244 in May, but the number arrested for misdemeanors increased slightly from 3,065 to 3,089.

The largest decline, however, was shown in the number of persons arrested for violations of the traffic regulations. These numbered 6,181 in May, as compared with 4,628 in June, a drop of 1,553. This accounted for almost all of the decline in arrests.

In the week since the campaign started there were 1,473 arrests for traffic violations, involving an increase of about 50 per cent in arrests for the more serious offenses, the principal charge being speeding, for which 217 were haled to court as compared with 158 the preceding week.

Radio Offers Independence Hall Program

Philadelphia Police Band to Play and Chorus of 500 Will Sing; Fourth of July Outing Skit at 9:50 P. M.; Detective Story.

There was considerably less static than usual last night and those who spent the eve of the holiday twirling the disis were repaid by being able to tune in on numerous ofitside stations. Conditions seemed to improve as the night went on.

Special Independence Day programs, originating in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and New York, will be presented year WMAL and the Columbia chain line afternoon in celebration of the holiday, The first part of the program, which will be heard over WABC, will come from Independence Hall, Philadelphia, and will consist of a concert by the Philadelphia Police Band and a chorus of 500 voices. Judge George W. Maxey, of the common pleas court of Lackawanna, will speak.

The celebration will then be transferred to New York at 1 o'clock and will consist of an Independence Day service with a special band and chorus in renditions of patriotic songs and hymns, This can be heard over WMAL. The final part of the program, also to be heard over WMAL, will begin at 2:36 o'clock and will consist of a concert by Creatore's Band with novelty interludes by the Marlimba Band in Atlantic City.

A holiday note of a different sort will

A holiday note of a different sort will be sounded by WRC and N. B. C. stations with a comedy sketch representing the average American family's Fourth of July outing. It will be broadcast at 9:30 o'clock tonight. "The Jones Celebrate the Fourth" is the title of the skit written especially for the occasion by Percy Hemus, one of the stars of the Dutch Masters Minatrels. Other performers to be featured are Gladys Rice, Rita Burgess Gould and Arthur Campbell,

The Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, will be heard over WRC and the N. B. C. chain at 11 o'clock this morning when he addresses the sixty-seventh annual convention of the National Education Association in Atlanta.

"The Vanishing Phantom of Leaven-worth." a dramatic tale of crooks, de-tectives, and hairbreadth escapes, will comprise the weekly True Detective Mystery over WMAL at 8 pclock. This story, allegedly true, concerns a battle of wits between a high-powered super-crook and an equally highpowered aleuth with a quarter of a million dol-lars at stake.

The Slumber Hour, over WRC at 10 o'clock tonight, will be devoted to musical numbers by American composers in observance of Independence Day, Some of the selections are; "American Patrol," "Around the Campfire," "To a Water Lily," and "Cradle Song."

What Today Means to You

"CANCER."

P July 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this day are from 9 s. m. to 10 s. m., from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger perfods are from 10 s. m. to 11 p. m. The danger perfods are from 10 s. m. to 11 s. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. 4 feeling of "all-rightness," and one of satisfaction with life in general, as fell as your own particular niche, will prevail on this date. No radical changes will be made, and there will not be much travel.

Children born July 4 will be very quiet and reserved. They would rather take a back seat than force themselves to the front. They will be conscientious workers, but not original ones. Your passage through this plane of existence will not be a dark or dreary one. The sunshine in your nature will dispel any clouds which tend, for the moment, to wipe out the joy of living. You love laughter, and with you to is not a stage imitation of mirth, but an honest and a hearty expression of amusement or pleasure. You are not too thin or skinned to thoroughly enjoy a joke at your own expense. There are often tears in your eyes, however, for you are very tender-hearted, and your sympathles easily run riot. You seldom brood over your own afflictions, but anybody's and everybody's troubles as well as their joys, are real to you. You love the open air, and the country sights, smells and colors. It would be cruel to shut you up behind brick as the earth. The matter of which is composed, however, is not as heavy as that of the earth. Men of science is mortar. You love animals, and valways sense the bond of sympathy inderstanding which lies between and them. There is very little sity in your nature. Although outly casual in your standards of duct, you are inwardly strick with reelf. You never try to make other ple over, nor to play the role of coher. You are an inveterate and scriminate reader, and you are aptractive and and the cannot as a search. Men of science are and scriminate that married. For 50 years he has been patiently as a coranges. Attire for Sun and Water

@ VOCUE

If E on the beach has become a relief the back has acquired its from the sun and the water with purpose afore thought. We swift for lithe grace, and we sun for a chicly brown complexion. And, of course, the mode recognizes the need for special costumes. One of the most adequate as well as chic sun suits is shown here. The overall of linen exposes a suspender back to the sun. After such exposure, no evening gown will reveal a pale margin of decolletage. Included in the ensemble and are excellent additions after a quick swim and a short sunning.

So closer than that, sometimes farther if away. When I tell you "900.000,000," lis you can hardly have an idea of the wast distance. Let us suppose that a new could be shot to Saturn with a rocket, and that the rocket went 10,000 miles an hour.

The man, to be sure, might be slaken to pieces before he knew he had started—but let us "suppose." Even at that startiling speed the rocket would not reach Saturn for ten years and five months!

To come close to Saturn would be one of the greatest treats nature could give—a human being. Those mighty rings would be a greater sight than the Grand Canyon or Niagara Falls.

Astronomers, even at this immense distance from Saturn, have been able to learn a little about the rings, which are from 50 to 100 miles thick.

Aviators Will Be Told of Conditions Every Three Hours by U. S. Bureau Using Radio; Good Also as General Forecast.

The United States Weather Bureau began this week to provide weather reports every three hours for aviators on the New York-Chicago-San Francisco-Los Angeles Aliways. The service was made possible by an appropriation of $350,000 by Congress.

A system of weather reports will be broadcast from four collecting centers where there are powerful radio broadcasting stations of the Department of Commerce, according to the Department of Agriculture. These stations, located at Cleveland, Omaha, Salt Lake City and San Francisco, will receive telegraphic reports every three hours, day and night, from about 60 selected reporting stations situated on both sides of the airway and about 100 to 200 miles from the route taken by the filers. As aircraft are now equipped with radio receiving sets, the information can easily be picked up by the filers, thus insuring greater safety in flying.

While this information is intended primarily for the benefit of aviators, it will be equally available to the general pulpode, according to the Weather Bureau, and will doubtless be used for many purposes besides aviation. Eventually the system may be extended to include the great transverse aliways extending from the northern to the Southern boundaries of the country.

Although the radio destiny of the

Although the radio destiny of the United States is in his hands, Judge Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the Radio Commission, has only faced the microphone once since he took up his official duties. This was in connection with a descriptive broadcast which was a part of the inaugural ceremonies.

Practically all local programs will be eliminated in the British Isle toward the end of this year. Most of the presentations will be staged in the London studios of the British Broadcasting Co. The number of stations is gradually being reduced in accordance with the Prague plan, or regional scheme, whereby listeners will be served with alternative programs over a small group of high powered stations located at key points with respect to service areas.

HOW TO KEEP WELL =By DR. W. A. EVANS=

WOMAN AS CAVE MAN.

WOMAN' Is presently to become the cave man of the family partnership, according to an Associated Press report of a discussion held by the Midwest Society of Physical Education. The probability is that the speakers were somewhat more restrained than the report indicates. The fluent reporter made his story attractive by needing in some fine writing, and then the headline writer added the foam by writing: "Woman may rule the roost as husbands become more sallow, feeble and anemic."

In this report there is a moderate amount of basic fact. The general impression is that women are growing taller and more muscular. The trend is away from the squat, short, broad hipped femile toward one built more along the lines of Venus of Milo, or even approximating those of the Apollo type When careful measurements of college women have been made in this gountry some proof of such a trend has been noted. The reports that come from England and Germany are to the same effect. However, I know of no evidence that men are slipping back except relatively. It is like two trains running in the same direction on parallel tracks but at different rates of speed. To the people on the faster train the slower train may seem to be standing still or even backing up. I wonder if the speaker at this convention could have been an exuberant female? If so, she should know that her sex is now in the period of great returns, whereas my sex has reached those stretches where the

The New York Federal Reserve directors held their weekly meeting today because of the Thursday holiday, but fears of an increase in the rediscount rate have not vanished. New York, July 3 (A.P.) .- With the

New York, July 3 (AP.).—With the usual exception of the convertibles, trading in today's bond market was devoted almost exclusively to the rails. Price changes in this important group were mixed, first grade issues softening dightly while the secondaries made a small gain.

Railroad bonds with a stock feature were strong all day. Atchison 4½s, opening just below their previous record high, held firm throughout the seasion and closed with a net gain of a small fraction. New Haven 6a equaled their peak around noon, but reacted a trifle to finish with an advance of 1½, about haif a point below the top. Missouri Pacific 8½s stayed in new high ground all day, touching 117½ and showing a gain of ½ at the close. Southern Pacific 4½s, carrying stock purchase warrants, were the most popular bonds in the rail group, advancing ¾ of a point on a turnover of approximately 8370,000, par value.

The telephone favorites, International and American Convertible 4½s, traded narrowly during most of the session, but last hour advances enabled them to show net gains of 3 and 2 points, respectively, the international issue more than recovering the 2 point loss it showed in early afternoon transactions.

Among the standard railroad obligations a declaration and a standard railroad obligations.

issue more than recovering the 2 point loss it showed in early afternoon transactions.

Among the standard railroad obligations, Atchison general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio Southwewst 5s, Erie refunding 5s and Chicago & Northwestern general 5s had small losses. Speculative carriers obligations met some selling that carried Chicago & Eastern Illinois 5s down ½ to the new 1929 low of 77½, while Florida East Coast 5s equaled the year's minimum of 68 on a decline of a point. Seaboard 5s also were lower, selling just above the bottom price.

Only a few bonds stood out in the industrial, utility and specialty sections, which in general found a slim following. Cincinnati Gas & Electric 4s moved up 1 and the infrequently traded Keystone Telephone of Philadelphia 5s mounted 10 points on a small purchase. International Cement 5s struck new low ground, while National Dairy Products 5½s and National Radiator 6½s improved. The latter bond, persistently sold last week, gained 1½. United States Steel 5s, called for redemption, touched the year's high of 109½ on a rise of ½.

The Fourth Liberty 4½s and the Tressury 4s were the only United States Government securities to show life, but virtually no price change appeared in either. The rest of this group was also steady.

Foreign obligations turned irregular on small turnovers. German Republic 7s, Japenese 6½s and 4s, and Kingdom of Italy 7s made fractional gains on fair inquiry.

Naked Truth

NEW YORK, July 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—
With track and field records cracking all over the place like eight carloads of cannon crackers, it ought to be a glorious Fourth in Denver, where the A. A. U. is staging its annual senior track and field championships tomorrow and Friday. For indications are that some time-honored marks are going to go by the board.

In the 100-yard dash, in particular, the classiest field that ever faced a starter will toe the mark and, given a good day without wind, it is a good bet that the record of 9.6 seconds set by Dan Kelly in 1905 and since equaled officially nine times will be expunged from the books. Since the A. A. U. overlords will be in direct personal charge of the meet, there can be no question of the acceptance of a record-breaking performance, provided there is no favoring wind behind the serving.

Canzoneri and McGraw

Sign for Bout July 9 New York, July 3 (A.P.)—Tony Canconeri, lightweight idol of New York, was signed today to box Phil McGraw.
Detroit fiorist, in a ten-round bout fuly 9 at the Queensboro Stadium.
Sanzoneri, matched to meet Sammy
Mandell for the 135-pound crown in Chicago, August 2, has agreed to stepside in favor of McGraw if defeated sere.

Gallagher Not Hurt

In Philadelphia Bout Marty Gallagher, Washington's young leavyweight, who has been traveling rough road of late, took occasion yeserday to deny that he had been badily seaten by Phil Mercurlo, of New Yorkity, in their ten-round bout at Philadelphia on Tuesday night.

Marty did not choose words as his means of contradicting the reports rom Philadelphia. He merely visited the Post sports department and showed his face. And, lo and behold, here wasn't a scratch, nary a cut, hereby proving that from a writer's magination sometimes flows more

Records Fall At Denver

Seniors Open Assaults on Marks in Nationals Today.

Field Is One of Best in History; Simpson Out for Season.

By FRANK H. FRAWLEY

Cy Leland, Texas Christian University's crack sprinter, equaled the Junior A. A. U. record in the 100-yard dash in 98-10 seconds in spite of a strong head wind that swept up the course.

Gordon Allot, University of Colorado star, running under the colors of the Denrer Athletic Club, clipped 2-10 seconds off the record of 548-10 seconds for the 440-yard low hurdles in winning the even but his mark was not allowed because he toppied over the last barrier.

MAJS. VAN VLIET, FINLEY WIN ARMY DOUBLES TITLE

Pair Outclass Hills-Hobbs In 3 Sets

Leading Role Played by Finley in Finals at Columbia.

Van Vliet Wins High Honors for 2 Years in Succession.

HOWING flashes of the form that made them one of the strongest doubles combination of the Army in the South back in 1923, Maj. Robert C. Van Vilet and Maj. Thorinas D. Finley yesterday swept through the final match to win the doubles championship of the United States Army at Columbia Country Club They completely outclassed their opponents, Maj. J. Huntington Hills and Maj. Leland S. Hobbs, weterans of this city, as is indicated by the scores—6—2, 6—1, 6—3.

Thus, Maj. Van Vilet, with the aid of his old partner, gained the distinction of winning highest individual tennis honors of the Army two years in succession. Last year he won the singles title and captured the doubles crown paired with Col. Wait C. Johnson. On Monday the rugged major from the Panama Canal Zone again annexed the singles championship.

It was Maj. Finley's first taste of success in important tournament play. Since he graduated from West Point in 1916, he has never won more than runner-up laurels, either in singles or doubles.

Van Vliet-Finley Also to Seek

District Doubles Crown.
In the District championships, which open today at Edgemoor, Mai. Finley and Maj. Van Vliet will continue play-and Maj. Van Vliet will continue playing together in doubles in hopes of compiling a winning streak.

The hard-playing Finley was the outstraining performer in yesterday's match. His was nearly perfect tennis.

stroking time after time drew the appliance of the gallery.

With Finley displaying such a fine game. Van Vliet did not, or rather, was not forced to show his own sterling ability. Finley always seemed to be in the right spot at the right time, and seldom did he fail on a return.

The Hills-Hobbs combination, using the overhead mostly, could not cope with Finley's speedy shots. Its high lobs were pounded back to the base lines so fast that both were virtually handcuffed. handcuffed.

Van Vliet and Finley took a commanding position in short order, running up a 4-to-0 lead in the first set. Before Hills and Hobbs got warmed up the ultimate champions were in high gear. Finley put over aces in the fifth and seventh games, the second one gaining the set point. Hills and Hobbs Stage

Rally in Third Set. The second set was easier than the first for Van Vliet and Finley, a stirring volleying duel in which they were superior being the only exciting feature of the set. Their opponents' errors figured prominently in this chapter, Hills netting the set point on his own service.

Pinley's wonderful eye for the base Finley's wonderful eye for the base lines quickly accounted for the first two games of the third set. After Hills and Hobbs registered a game, Finley again came through with his merciless kills, lengthening the lead to 4—1, but here Hills and Hobbs suddenly broke loose their best tennis of the afternoon and by accurate placing won two games in a row with Hobbs stealing some of Finley's stuff and whacking over a couple of sizzling drives which winged through his foes before they could hardly move.

This was only a flare-up, however, and Hills and Hobbs dropped the eighth game on their own service while Hills drove outside to close the ninth and deciding game.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADY FINGERS. $4.68. $3.14, $2.76; TAKE OFF. $3.10, $2.62;

WINGO. $3.42.

LADY FINGERS, reserved back of leaders until reaching far turn and taking the lead with a rush at the head of the stretch, began drawing clear. TAKE OFF, forced back approaching the far turn and used up racing BETTY ANN into defeat, tired badly through stretch. WINGO saved ground all through stretch, but could not improge position.

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1.200; claimfiff. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily: place, driving. Went to post at 4:51. Off at 4:52. Winner, S. N. Holman's ch. g. (9), by North Star III—Bed of Roses. Trained by J. R. Shuster. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:231-5, 0:472-5, 1-144-5, 1.393-5, 1:44-1-5.

COLLYER'S COMMENT ON LINE SPORT OF KINGS

FIREWORKS! Yea, bo; let's bombard the common enemy. As a matter of fact, the management of Arlington Park has arranged a well balanced card from which one or two specials, however, stick out like a sore finger. The first of these is BLUSHING MAIDEN, which goes in the day's opener and which is right at the top of her very best form. I like this one extra well. Then there is KHARA, John Lowe's XXX special, which will about back home in front of the mob, slated to bear colors in the second spasm. Has worked exceptionally fast and should win by two lengths. Such is the chatter appended by the chief of staff.

The third narrows down to a pretty tight fit chief of staff.

The third narrows down to a pretty tight fit between WISDOM and ILLEGITIMATE. The two met at Latonia and WISDOM won rather handily. In the feature event, the Stars and Stripes Handicap, at one and one-eighth miles, I am takpus the second in the second

FIRST RACE—Five furlongs; purse,
11.000; the Bridgeburg; for maiden 2-year-ing MISSTEP, with BACKBONE second and GOLDEN PRINCE and SUN BEAU right bang up. In this connection, however, I note that BACKBONE is also over at Windsor. SUN BEAU will. I believe, need this race as he goes back on the 20th—in the big race. Over at Fort Eric, the happy chatter is BROWN THISTLE to bring home the bacon in the third. This is a pretty shifty nag and has a 2-point call over CLIFTON MAID, which looms up as the favorite and probable contender.

DEAR LADY has shown consistency and should take down the winner's share of the fourth, while I look for COOTS to show smart improvement over that Hamilton effort. It went for Mr. Sweeney, who manicures the morgue. This looks like a good spot to get the old vacation money.

At Windsor, DOUGHERTY is the live persimmon. This trick is, I believe, a trifle better than ordinarily rated.

SANDLOT NINES ARE READY FOR GALA HOLIDAY CARD

Double Bills The Boy Who Made Good To Feature Program

Takoma Tigers Entertain Baltimore's Champions.

Many Local Teams to Invade Maryland and Virginia.

Today may be a holiday for most working overtime. Holidays are double-header days for the amateurs. Local and suburban diamonds will be utilized every available minute.

Today's contests mark high spots on many teams' schedules. The Takoma Tigers will entertain the strong Homestead A. C., of Baltimore, at Silver Spring in two games, while the Brentwood Hawk and Mount Rainier Nines are renewing their neighborhood squables at Mount Rainier. Many local teams will invade nearby Virginia and Maryland towns. It will be a big day for the team coffers. It is one day on the schedule when the coins really trickle in the hat.

The D. J. Kaufman Seniors will meet Hume Springs A. C. at Hume Springs this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Sons of Rest Nine will drill on the Plaza diamond tomorrow at 5 o'clock in preparation for their clash with Hess A. C. Saturday. The following players are asked to report: Cinotti, Farrington, Cereeo, Manders, Much, Nicro, Nolan, T. Farrel, A. Farrel, T. Breco, P. Breco, Cornell, Fitzgerald, Spigone, Kilroy and Long.

The Chevy Chase Grays will be busy today, meeting the Wilson Cardinals at 1 o'clock and White Haven A. C. at 3 o'clock on the Chevy Chase Playground Eastern All-Star and Muddy Ruel lines will meet in a French's Insect-eague fray today at 11 o'clock on bouth Ellipse diamond.

All Kenilworth Midget players are requested to report on Kenilworth field today at 11 clock to meet the Foxx Midgets in two games. The Kenil-worths are booking games at Lincoln 2743.

Manager Deuterman will take his A. B. & W. Busmen to Leesburg today for two games with the Leesburg A. C. Busmen will meet at the Arlington station at 10 o'clock. Those mable to report at that time are requested to call Clarendon 807-F-5.

One of the most outstanding attracday is the scheduled battle between the rBentwood Hawks and Mount Rainter nines at Mount Rainier at 3 o'clook. Rivals for the Prince Georges County title, these teams are certain to attract a large holiday crowd. Last season the Mounts won a 10-to-4 verdict over then blossoming Hawks. This season the Hawks have twice defeated the Dixle Pigs by good margins, while the Mounts had to stagger through 13 innings of tusseling to get a 5-to-4 decialon over the Barbecue lads.

Bellman and Ensor are ready for mound duty for the reorganized Hawks, while Waple, Waters and Corkins are aching for the Mount assignment. nines at Mount Rainier at 3 o'clock.

Ramblers A. C. will be the attraction in two games with the Phoenix A. C. oday on the latter team's diamond at folbrook and Neal streets northeast, tarting at 1 o'clock. The Phoenix nine is seeking a Saturday game at Lincoln 3370-W.

Independent A. C. will, be seen at Bryantown, Md., against the homs-town boys. Duffey will be the probable hurler. George Russell and Joe Honey, experienced players, have been signed by the Independents, who will meet to-day at Seamen Gunners Field at 11:30 o'clock.

Kensington Firemen have canceled the twin engagement carded with the J. Kaufman Seniors today.

The Mackay Juniors have two foes

Lafayette Midget players will meet at Twelfth and K streets southeast to-day at 1 o'clock to travel to Hyatsville where the Hyatsville All-stars will be

Next Year.

Next Year.

A TLANTA, Ga., July 3 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones announced here today that he planned to play in both thampionships next year. His next big tournament will be national amateur at Del Monte, Calif., in September.
Bobby's last appearance in the British open was two years ago when he successfully defended the championship he won in 1926. He also played in the lentered the British amateur twice, in 1921 and 1928; but failed both times. This is the only major championship the Georgia marvel has never won.

Berlin: July 3 (U.P.).—Commander Hugo Eckener, veteran transatlantic dirigible pilot, revealed the details of the projected flight around the world by the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, in an interview tonight.

The dirigible must leave Friedrichshafen for Tokyo before August 15 to avoid danger of typhoons. Eckener told the United Press correspondent. He said the officumnavigation of a typhoon area might delay the flight several days. The actual flying time apound the world, barring accidents and delays, will be twelve to fourteen days, he said. To that time must be added aproximately nine days for refuelling and other delays. The total flying distance is about 20,000 miles. Brookfield. Mo., July 3 (A.P.).—

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

One hundred and fifty-three years ago today the newsreal cameramen certainly were kept busy up in Philadelphia. I understand the pictures of the signing were on the acreans of all the local movie houses by 6 o'clock in the evening, in time for the supper have the others just a bit outsmove, and that Movietone even had the clanging of the bell recorded in strikingly realistic fashion!

the clanging of the bell recorded in strikingly realistic fashion!

That one-day convention of the disgrunted exhibitors at the Mayflower ran about true to form. The independent motion-picture theater owners of 15 or 20 States convened Tuesday morning at the behest of Abram F. Myers, general counsel for the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, agreed to disagree, divided into two factions—one, under Mr. Myers guideance, favoring Government supervision of the industry; the other under R. F. ("Fete") Woodhull, president of the M. F. T. O. A., desiring no such thing—battled a bit and then checked out of the hotel, and presumably Washington, before dinner.

With half of the erstwhile recalcitants siding with the Will H. Hays organisation, as against adoption of the Brookhart bill, it looks just too bad for the other half who think they are for it.

Although not in any way directly interested in the curtalled conclave on Connecticut avenue, William Pox, president of the motion picture and theater corporations bearing his name, and Maj, John Zanft, vice president and general manager of the same companies, were visitors in Washington on Monday and Tuesday.

Their concern seemed to center more in the corner of Vermont avenue and K street than farther north and I suspect that perhaps they were endeavoring to persuade Mr. Mitchell to commit himself as to whether they own the controlling interest in Low, Inc., and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer or have been shearman antitrust law.

Or maybe they just like the town!

The Norris statement was prompted by several editorials purporting to quote from the Nebraskan's speech in the Senate against "power trust" activities in the newspaper field to the effect that a Government-owned press might be necessary.

The quotation attributed to Senator Norris was one actually made by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Massachusetts, who said, "If the time comes in our country when all the press is controlled by sinister interests or selffah big business, there is no other position left for a free people, than to establish a Government-owned press."

Thave never advocated that the Government should take over the course. I never said anything of the kind attributed to me. I not only office in the course of the prever said is, but I have never believed it and do not believe it now."

Washington Exchange Closes Successful Half Year of Operations.

BONDS HOLD UP WELL

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The Washington Stock Exchange has closed a successful half-year's business, officials announced yesterday. While quotations on numerous leading issues are lower now than on January 1, a number of local stocks have advanced in value and many have held their in value and many have held their former levels.

Bank stocks have made the best group showing. Many are selling higher than they did the first of the year, although some are considerably below opening figures for January, 1929. The heaviest bank stock trading has been in Riggs National, which opened the year at 580; lest sold at 571, and 1,083 chares of which have changed hands thus far.

Other active bank stocks have been Merchants Bank & Trust Co., American Security & Trust Co., Federal-American National and Bank of Bethesda. Biggs, selling at 573, being the highest on the list; National Savings & Trust Co. is next, at 655. The most recent sale et Washington Loan & Trust Co. stock was at 545, while Security Savings & Commercial sold fast at 521, and Mational Metropolitan and Columbia National are selling at 412 and 402½, respectively.

While local bonds have sold off four are correct and that the close of the year will see local bonds back at January levels.

The local exchange during the first half of 1929 was featured by the rise of Washington Gas Light stock and the fall of Capital Traction, the latter having sold down to its lowest mark in the twentieth century. This stock's decline has been attributed generally to the failure of street railway mergerplans, prospects for which were so good at one time that many thought the traction stock was due for a sharp rise.

Struggle for the control of the Washington Gas Light Co. has had a decided bearing on its stock, sending it to 123%, a new all-time-high. The low of this stock for the present year is 105 and its advance was the cause for unusual interest in the financial district.

Vesterday's assign on the exchange and a fractional increase from this figure.

The largest stock sale was 40 shares of National Mortgage & Investment preferred at 4%, latest quotation. Thirty shares of Potomas Electric 5½ per cent preferred moved at 108, fractional rise, and 23 of Security Savings & Commercial Bank at 517. Twenty-two of Mergenthaler Linotype changed hands at 108, fractional decline, and 20 of Merchants Transfer & Storage common at 1 and 2 point recessions from 120 Sales of 20 shares of Federal-American Co. preferred at fractional gains over last sale price, 100%; were recorded.

Bondholders Are Favored in Court Ruling.

FAILURE COSTS BIG SUMS SEEKS VOTES OF REBELS

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., July 3.—Chief Judge

Co. Creditors of the receivership also claimed the funds.

The case, which has been in progress for some time, resulted from the failure of the company, in which a number of investors lost large sums of money. The plant was placed in the hands of a receiver in 1925 at the request of creditors and William A. Riddell, head of the Fredericz Iron & Stell Co., was appointed receiver and operated the plant until 1926, when it was closed, The receivership operations are said to have lost money, and when the plant was closed the receiver owed creditors for material and supples used in the operations and also owed on receivership certificates which represented capital used in operation.

$9,000 is Distributed.

$9,000 Is Distributed.

After the case had been taken to the Maryland Court of Appeals a balance of about $9,000 was distributed to the holders of receivership certificates, leaving the creditors for raw material and supplies unpaid. The foundry site, including buildings and machingery, was sold and the money placed in the hands of the receiver. There was a first mortgage on the property securing bonds.

The opinion, in part, said:

"The failure of the receivership was deeply disappointing to the court and to every interest involved. It was inaugurated with the confident belief that it would accomplish its important purposes. The reports and testimony of the receiver show that for a number-of months after his appointment the plant was operated with a fair degree of success. The failure and breakdown of the machinery and the consequent insolvency of the receivership were due to the effort to increase production and profits.

All Creditors Suffer.

All Creditors Suffer.

All classes of the creditors are guf-fering from that disaster. There with be heavy losses not only to supply claimants, but also to the bond and certificate holders, because of a nis-fortune which none of them had any reason to anticipate. In our opinion there is no adequate legal or equitable ground upon which the whole burden of that loss should be imposed upon the bondholders in the application of the proceeds of the property mortgaged. the bondholders in the application of the proceeds of the property mortgaged for their protection prior to the institution of the receivership porceedings. There is no proof that the claims of the exceptants or of any other general creditors of the receivership are for service or material needed for preservation of the mortgaged property or supplied at the request of the bondholders and hence there is no basis for any discrimination among those claims.
